

“Rum meets Port” is a new and innovative series initiated by Bellamy’s Reserve Rum. Entering new climes here, Bellamy’s Reserve combines selected port wine with aged rum to create new taste adventures.

Bellamy’s Reserve Ruby Rum meets Port features an eight-year-old column still rum from Panama, meeting a fine reserve Ruby port. After maturation in ex-Bourbon casks, the rum is blended with the port and enjoys an intense finish in ex-Jamaica rum barrels. Ruby Rum meets Port is bottled at 45% ABV. The blend itself combines ~90% rum and ~10% port. The stated dosage of 11.2 g/l refers to the sugar content measured in the laboratory and is calculated from both the sugar naturally present in the port wine as well as from some added sugar.

Nose: fruity character with notes of redcurrant, cherry and raspberry, with hints of wood, rum raisins and herbal notes.

Palate: plum, red berries, nuts, tannins, caramel, dry finish.
